

ABSTRACT

A data transmission process using repetitive sets of spreading sequences, and corresponding transmitter and receiver. Spectrum spreading is performed on symbol packets using sets of pseudo-random sequences used repetitively, thus reducing interference between symbols.